ROLE OF PRSS

The role of the Peer Recovery Support Specialist (PRSS) reflects a collaborative and strengths-based approach, with the primary goal being to assist individuals in achieving sustained recovery from addiction and/or mental health issues. PRSSs will not be clinicians, they will instead serve in a supportive role within the community and/or within a treatment setting to enhance the current treatment array. PRSSs are trained in the domains of Advocacy, Mentoring/Education, Recovery/Wellness Support, and Ethical Responsibilities to better support individuals in achieving recovery and resiliency. Services provided by the PRSS become a permanent critical component of the continuum of care services that will substantially improve an individual's ability to sustain recovery/wellness.

The primary function of the PRSS is to help individuals gain access to needed resources in the community by assisting them in overcoming barriers and helping them bridge gaps between their needs and available resources. The PRSS will serve as recovery navigator/mentor by helping individuals connect with needed services, including addiction and mental health treatment services, and assisting them in acquiring resources that will facilitate their recovery (e.g., acquiring childcare services, stable housing, developing wellness plans and employment support). Each PRSS will serve individuals in the recovery process by supporting them in accessing community-based resources, implementing recovery/wellness plans, navigating state and local systems (including addiction and mental health treatment systems), and providing recovery support services. The PRSS will coach service recipients to help them develop a strong foundation in recovery (e.g. establishing support systems, self-care, independence/self-sufficiency, healthy coping skills and other skills) that support long-term recovery.
